

EDITING CERTIFICATE

Certificate

The dissertation titled, “Food for academic thought” has not really been edited or proofread at any stage. Ad hoc translations have been randomly done by various people.

As a department based in the sciences, we pride ourselves on our creative problem solving, lifelong learning, professional content knowledge, and eating ability, not our spelling, grammar or punctuation (mistakes may have crept in [we are not sorry])

Please take note that SMTKS takes no responsibility for any content changes, quantities or methods after the pasting of these contributions. Furthermore, SMTKS takes no responsibility for the differences in tastes and ovens. Basically we take NO responsibility at all. Use at your own risk. This dissertation includes; nuts, meat, eggs, dairy (all the allergens).

The aged look of this certificate is meant to impress – our department did not just come into being yesterday, you know.